World Population Day

The overwhelmimg balooning of the world population has forced grave minds to ponder, research and find a solution to this threat. With this in mind the IBDP scholars of India International School gave an interesting presentation in the school auditorium on 10 July 2015, a day prior to the World Population Day, making it more effective with videos and later open it to the house for interaction.

Such sessions are highly recommended as they create awareness.